THIS MATTER came before the court on Friday, March 22, 1996, for hearing of the parties' cross-motions for summary judgment. Plaintiffs appeared by and through their attorney, V.K. Sawhney; defendants appeared by and through their attorney, Assistant Attorney General, William J. O'Roarty.

THE COURT, having considered the materials submitted by the parties and their written and oral arguments of counsel, and being otherwise advised, makes the following findings of fact¹ and conclusions of law:

¹ To the extent that a finding of fact should be deemed a conclusion of law, or a conclusion of law be deemed a finding of fact, it shall be so considered.

26

1 Findings of Fact

2 The material facts are undisputed:

3 The Syeds

4 1. Plaintiff Margie Blelai Syed is a citizen of the Republic of Palau, residing on 5 Saipan. Plaintiff's Exhibit 1. (For clarity of reference and unless otherwise indicated, all
6 exhibits will refer to plaintiffs' numbered exhibits as attached to their summary judgment
7 motion filed February 21, 1996.)

8 2. Plaintiff Islam Wahidul Syed is a citizen of Bangladesh, who married plaintiff
9 Margie Blelai Syed on Saipan on March 26, 1991. Ex. 6.

10 3. Plaintiff Margie Blelai Syed does not work outside the family home.

11 4. Mr. Syed entered the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI)
12 as a garment factory sewing machine operator, Ex. 4, pursuant to CNMI Department of 13 Labor and Immigration Permit No S-37392, issued June 7, 1990. Ex. 3. The permit was 14 issued pursuant to Section 706K of the Department of Labor and Immigration's
15 Regulations.

16 5. After his marriage on July 8, 1991, Mr. Syed was issued a "non-alien, 17 immediate relative" permit ("non-alien IR permit"), which used the same number as his 18 previous permit. Ex. 7.

19 6. The "non-alien IR" permit stated on its face that it was issued pursuant to Labor
20 and Immigration Regulation Section 706D.

21 7. Section 706D, entitled "Immediate Relatives of Nonalien Entry Permit," allows 22 "immediate relatives of persons who are not aliens to remain in the CNMI for one (1) 23
25
26

1 year so long as the immediate relative status is in effect."

2 8. Mr. Syed renewed his "non-alien IR" permit on March 26, 1992 (Ex. 8), May 3 26, 1993 (Ex. 9), and June 7, 1994 (Ex. 10). At each renewal, the permit stated that it
4 was being issued pursuant to Section 706D.

6 9. On May 16, 1995, Mr. Syed sought to again renew his "non-alien IR" permit.
7 However, at the top of the first page of the two-page application the immigration official
8 processing his application wrote "706E," which was a reference to Labor and Immigration
9 Regulation 706E. Ex. 11.

10 10. Immigration Regulation Section 706E concerns permits for persons who are 11 immediate relatives of aliens, as opposed to 706D, which concerns immediate relatives
12 of non-alien. Section 706E provides that:

13
14 An immediate relative of an alien may enter under a permit for the same 15 term as the alien's entry if the alien posts cash as a bond with the Chief of 16 Immigration in the amount of twice the cost of a return travel (sic) to the point of origin at the time of the application.

17 11. Mr. Syed was given no prior notice that his immigration status had been or 18 would be changed. For the first time, he was required to post a cash bond in the amount
19 of $714.00, due to the unannounced decision by CNMI Immigration to change his status
20 to "alien IR." Ex. 12. By letter dated June 2, 1995, Mr. Syed's application was returned 21 to him as "incomplete" because he and his wife had not attached a receipt showing the 22 cash bond had been paid. Ex. 15.

23
24 12. On or about August 1, 1995, Mr. Syed was notified by letter that his 25 application had been denied for failure to post the cash bond. Ex. 16.
26

1 Mr. Chowdhury and Ms. Ludwig

2 13. Plaintiff Temsina Ludwig is a citizen of the Federated States of Micronesia,
3 residing on Saipan. Ex. 2.

4 14. Plaintiff Abdur Rahim Chowdhury is a citizen of Bangladesh, who married Ms.
5 Ludwig on Saipan on October 29, 1992.

6 15. Mr. Chowdhury entered the CNMI pursuant to CNMI Department of Labor and 7 Immigration Permit No S-34734, issued March 28, 1990. Ex. 17. The permit was issued
8 pursuant to Section 706K of the Department of Labor and Immigration's Regulations.

10 16. Mr. Chowdhury renewed his permit on August 2, 1991 (Ex. 18), and again
11 on May 26, 1992 (Ex. 19).

12 17. On November 9, 1992, Mr. Chowdhury received a permit as an "alien 13 immediate relative" under Regulation Section 706E (even though this is the regulation
14 concerning "non-alien immediate relatives.") Ex. 20. Mr. Chowdhury and Ms. Ludwig
15 were required to post a "return travel" bond in the amount of $1,400.00. Ex. 21. Mr.
16 Chowdhury was given no notice that his immigration status had been or would be 17 changed.
18

19 18. On October 18, 1993, Mr. Chowdhury's permit was renewed, this time as a 20 "non-alien IR." Ex. 22. No bond or surety was required of him. Ex. 23. Again, Mr.
21 Chowdhury was given no notice that his immigration status had been or would be 22 changed.
23

24 19. On October 18, 1994, Mr. Chowdhury's status was again changed by CNMI
25 Labor and Immigration, back to "alien IR" status. Ex. 24. Mr. Chowdhury was again
26

1 required to post a bond, this time in the amount of $570. Ex. 25. Mr. Chowdhury was
2 given no notice that his immigration status had been or would be changed.

3 20. On September 19, 1995, Mr. Chowdhury again renewed his permit, and again
4 was classified an "alien IR." Ex. 26.

5 21. Defendants have admitted the facts concerning the nationalities of the parties
6 and the two marriages, Defendants' Answer, ¶ 2, and the employment and permit history
7 of the parties. Deposition of George F. Camacho, p. 22, p. 26, l. 4 - p. 27, l. 27 (Dec. 13, 8 1995).

10 The Defendants

11 22. Defendant C. Sebastian Aloom was at all relevant times herein the Acting 12 Attorney General for the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, charged with 13 overall supervision of both the Office of Immigration and Naturalization and the 14 Immigration Officer, and whose duties and responsibilities include the promulgation of 15 rules and regulations to enforce the Commonwealth's immigration and naturalization
16 laws. 3 Commonwealth Code (CMC) § 4312.

17 23. Defendant Virginia Sablan was at all relevant times the Assistant Attorney
18 General charged with the responsibility for giving legal advice on labor and immigration
19 matters to CNMI government agencies, and was the person who directed the Division of 20 Immigration to implement the edict which re-classified plaintiffs' immigration standing.

21 24. Defendant Thomas Sablan was at all relevant times herein the Acting
22 Secretary of the Department of Labor and Immigration, under whose aegis falls the Office
23 of Immigration and Naturalization.
24
26

1 25. Defendant George F. Camacho was at all relevant times herein the Chief of
2 the Division of Immigration, responsible for the day-to-day supervision and administration
3 of the Office of Immigration and Naturalization, including the hiring, control, direction,
4 and supervision of inspectors, examiners, and all other employees of the office, and the 5 supervision and inspection of all persons entering the Commonwealth. 3 CMC § 4311.

7 The Legal Opinion

8 26. On September 13, 1994, CNMI Assistant Attorney General Henry 9 Wigglesworth sent a memorandum to George F. Camacho, the Acting Chief of 10 Immigration, which stated, in effect, that any person not a U.S. citizen, U.S. national, or 11 a "permanent resident" under CNMI P.L. 5-11 should be deemed an alien. Ex. 28.

12
13 27. Defendant Camacho stated that although he had never seen the Attorney 14 General's opinion (which was addressed to him as Acting Chief of Immigration and which 15 states it was drafted in response to his request) it was his belief that CNMI Immigration
16 was relying on it to reclassify Micronesians from non-alien to alien status. Deposition of 17 George F. Camacho, p. 19, l. 15-25; p. 29, l. 2-8 (Dec. 13, 1995). Defendants deny that 18 the opinion was ever "officially" issued. Defendants' Answer, ¶ 2.

19
20 No Notice or Opportunity to Be Heard

21 28. After the date of Mr. Wigglesworth's letter, no CNMI government agency or 22 instrumentality ever held any public hearing or otherwise took any steps to inform other
23 Micronesians and/or their non-U.S. citizen spouses that their status has been changed 24 from "non-alien" to "alien," and that their spouses' status had been changed from "non-25 alien, immediate relative" to "alien, immediate relative."
26

1 The United States may enact legislation in accordance with its
2 constitutional processes which will be applicable to the Northern Mariana
3 Islands, but if such legislation cannot also be made applicable to the several 4 States the Northern Mariana Islands must be specifically named therein for 5 it to become effective in the Northern Mariana Islands.

6 5. Section 105 applies to federal laws enacted after January 9, 1978,³ the 7 effective date of the Commonwealth's Constitution. United States ex rel. Richards v. de 8 Leon Guerrero, 4 F.3d 749, 756 (9th Cir. 1993).

9 6. The Compacts of Free Association between the United States and the Federated 10 States of Micronesia and the Republic of Palau, respectively, are federal laws. "Compact 11 of Free Association Act of 1985," P.L. 99-239 (Jan. 14, 1986). The Compact between the 12 United States and the Federated States of Micronesia became effective on November 3, 13 1986 (Pres. Procl. No. 5564, Nov. 3, 1986, 51 F.R. 40399), and between the United 14 States and Palau on October 1, 1994 (Pres. Procl. 6726, Sep. 27, 1994, 59 F.R. 49777).

15 7. Accordingly, the Compacts of Free Association, as federal laws passed after 16 January 9, 1978, are federal laws "applicable to the several States" which automatically
17 apply to the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands pursuant to the terms of 18 Covenant § 105. Hillblom v. United States, 896 F.2d 426, 428 (9th Cir. 1990); U.S. ex
19 rel. Richards v. de Leon Guerrero, 4 F.3d 749, 754 (9th Cir. 1993)(recognizing that 20 Congress can pass legislation with respect to the Commonwealth that it could not pass 21 with respect to the states).

22 8. Section 503 of the Covenant provides in relevant part that the immigration
23

26 ³ Covenant § 502 applies to federal laws passed prior to January 9, 1978. United States ex rel. Richards v. de Leon Guerrero, 4 F.3d at 1993.

1 laws of the United States will not apply to the Northern Mariana Islands except in the 2 manner and to the extent made applicable to them by the Congress by law after 3 termination of the Trusteeship Agreement.

5 9. The "Section by Section Analysis" from the Senate Committee on Interior and 6 Insular Affairs Report on the Covenant, in language identical to the section-by-section
7 analysis prepared by the Marianas Political Status Commission, states that "[f]ederal law
8 will control in the case of a conflict between local law (even a state's constitution) and 9 a valid federal law." S.Rep. No. 94-433, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. 65, 66 (1975), U.S. Code
10 Cong. & Admin. News 2nd Sess., p. 448 (1976).

11
12 10. The "Section by Section Analysis" is "authoritative." Fleming v. Dept. of Public
13 Safety, 837 F.2d 401, 408 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 488 U.S. 889, 109 S.Ct. 222 (1988).

14 11. Under Section 141(a) of the Compacts, "Any person [who is a citizen of the 15 Federated States of Micronesia or the Republic of Palau] in the following categories may 16 enter into, lawfully engage in occupations, and establish residence in the United States 17 and its territories and possessions without regard to [specified paragraphs] of the 18 Immigration and Naturalization Act[.]"

19
20 Subsection (a) goes on to say:

21 Such persons shall be considered to have the permission of the Attorney
22 General of the United States to accept employment in the United States.

23 Subsection (b) continues:

24 The right of such persons to establish habitual residence in a territory or 25 possession of the United States may, however, be subjected to nondiscriminatory limitations provided for:

26 (1) in statutes or regulations of the United States; or

1 (2) in those statutes or regulations of the territory or possession concerned
2 which are authorized by the laws of the United States.

3 12. Section 104(e)(1) of the Compact of Free Association Act of 1985 states that,
4 in approving the Compact of Free Association law, "it is not the intent of the Congress to 5 cause any adverse consequences for the United States territories and commonwealths or 6 the State of Hawaii."

7 13. Subsection (5) of section 104(e) states in relevant part that, "[a]s used in this 8 subsection, the term 'United States territories and commonwealths' means ... the 9 Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands."

10 14. The Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands is a "territory" of the 11 United States. See Micronesian Telecommunications Corporation v. National Labor 12 Relations Bd., 820 F.2d 1097, 1100 (9th Cir. 1987)(upholding NLRB's construction of the 13 term "territory" to include CNMI); Misch v. Zee Enterprises, Inc., 879 F.2d 628, 630-31 14 (9th Cir. 1989)(holding that the Jones Act, 46 U.S.C.App. §688(a), applies within and 15 to the CNMI and that CNMI is a territory of the United States within the meaning of the 16 Act); A&E Pacific Const. Co. v. Saipan Stevedore Co., 888 F.2d 68, 71 (9th Cir.
17 1989)(holding that the Shipping Act of 1984, 46 U.S.C. § 1701 et seq., applies to the 18 CNMI as one of the territories of the United States).

19 15. At all relevant times, defendants, and each of them, were acting under color
20 of Commonwealth law in denying to plaintiffs the right to equal protection guaranteed
21 to them by the United States Constitution under the 14th Amendment, as made applicable
22
24
25
26

1 to the Commonwealth under Covenant § 501(a).⁴

2 16. Plaintiffs have been denied procedural due process because they have been 3 deprived of their right to live and work without fear of reprisal in the Commonwealth
4 without notice and an opportunity to be heard. Greene v. McElroy, 360 U.S. 474, 79
5 S.Ct. 1400, 1411 (1959) (the right to hold private employment free from unreasonable
6 government interference comes within the "liberty" and "property" concepts of due 7 process).

9 17. Plaintiffs have been denied substantive due process because as lawfully 10 admitted aliens, they cannot be prevented from earning a living in the same way that 11 other state inhabitants earn a living. See Takahashi v. Fish and Game Comm., 334 U.S.
12 410, 418-19, 68 S.Ct. 1138, 1142 (1948).

14 18. Plaintiffs have been denied equal protection of the law. Lawful resident aliens
15 are entitled to equal protection. Graham v. Richardson, 403 U.S. 365, 91 S.Ct. 1848,
16 1852 (1971). Equal protection extends to non-citizen residents "who work for a living
17 in the common occupations of the community." Sugarman v. Dougall, 413 U.S. 634, 93
18 S.Ct. 2842, 2847 (1973) quoting Truax v. Reich, 239 U.S. 33, 36 S.Ct 7, 10 (1915).

20 19. At all relevant times, defendants, and each of them, were not acting in 21 accordance with nondiscriminatory limitations provided by the statutes or regulations of

24 ⁴ Defendants continue to maintain that the change in status was not an "official" act
25 of the CNMI government. This argument is puzzling and unpersuasive, given that 26 defendants have never disavowed or revoked the edict, and have come into court to defend it. At the least it is a de facto policy of defendants, which policy has already been imposed as to these plaintiffs, and which presumably remains enforceable as to others similarly situated.

1 the United States or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

2 20. Plaintiff wives, as citizens of Compact states, have the right to enter into,
3 establish residence, and work in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands,
4 subject only to nondiscriminatory limitations provided in the statutes or regulations of the 5 United States or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

7 21. Plaintiff husbands have the rights accorded "immediate relatives" of "non-8 aliens."

9 22. Injunctive relief pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 is available and appropriate in 10 these circumstances. DeNieva v. Reyes, 966 F.2d 480, 483 (9th Cir. 1992)(the court,
11 relying on Will v. Michigan Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 109 S.Ct. 2304 (1989), 12 held that although neither CNMI nor its officers acting in their official capacity are 13 "persons" for purposes of 42 U.S.C. § 1983 damages action, officers are "persons" for 14 purposes of official-capacity suits for injunctive relief).
15

16 23. As prevailing parties, plaintiffs are entitled to attorney fees and costs under 17 42 U.S.C. § 1988.

19 In summary, the court's ruling finds its basis in the language of the Covenant and 20 the Compact of Free Association Act. Covenant § 503 gives the Northern Mariana Islands 21 control over immigration "except in the manner and to the extent made applicable to 22 them by the Congress after termination of the Trusteeship Agreement." Section 503 is 23 not, therefore, a "fundamental provision" of the Covenant which requires bilateral 24 agreement to change. Covenant § 105 makes applicable to the CNMI all federal laws
25 enacted after January 9, 1978, which are applicable to the several states. The Compact 26

1 of Free Association Act of 1985 is a federal law applicable to the several states by which,
2 under the language of subsections (e)(1) and (e)(5) of § 104 of the Act, Congress
3 intended that the rights of the citizens of the freely-associated states be honored by the 4 United States and all its territories, whether denominated "unincorporated territories,"
5 "commonwealths," or otherwise. The Act, while it does affect the CNMI's right to control
6 its immigration under § 503, preserves the CNMI's right to enact non-discriminatory
7 regulations or statutes regarding the citizens of the freely-associated states.

9 FOR THE FOREGOING REASONS, plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment is 10 GRANTED and defendants' motion for summary judgment is DENIED. Defendants'
11 reclassification of plaintiffs was and is invalid under federal law, the Covenant, and CNMI
12 law. Having decided the matter on the grounds set forth above, it is unnecessary to 13 consider the other grounds for relief advanced by plaintiffs.
14

15 Defendants are enjoined from infringing upon the right of plaintiffs to establish 16 habitual residence in the Commonwealth unless and until the Commonwealth enacts
17 statutes or regulations which subject plaintiffs only to nondiscriminatory limitations.
18 Until that time, defendants are directed to immediately reinstate plaintiff wives' "non-19 alien" status and plaintiff husbands' "non-alien, immediate relative" status.
20

21 As prevailing parties, and in an exercise of the court's discretion, plaintiffs are 22 awarded attorney fees pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1988 and costs pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §
23 1920. Plaintiffs shall have until April 5, 1996, to submit their attorney fees petition and 24 cost bill. Defendants shall then have until April 12, 1996, in which to file an opposition
25 to plaintiffs' fee petition and cost bill. A hearing will be set if the court believes one is
